

From an eyesore to a defining feature

Dominique Perrault transforms office towers into the new landmark of a Parisian suburb

WORLD WIDE WEAVE

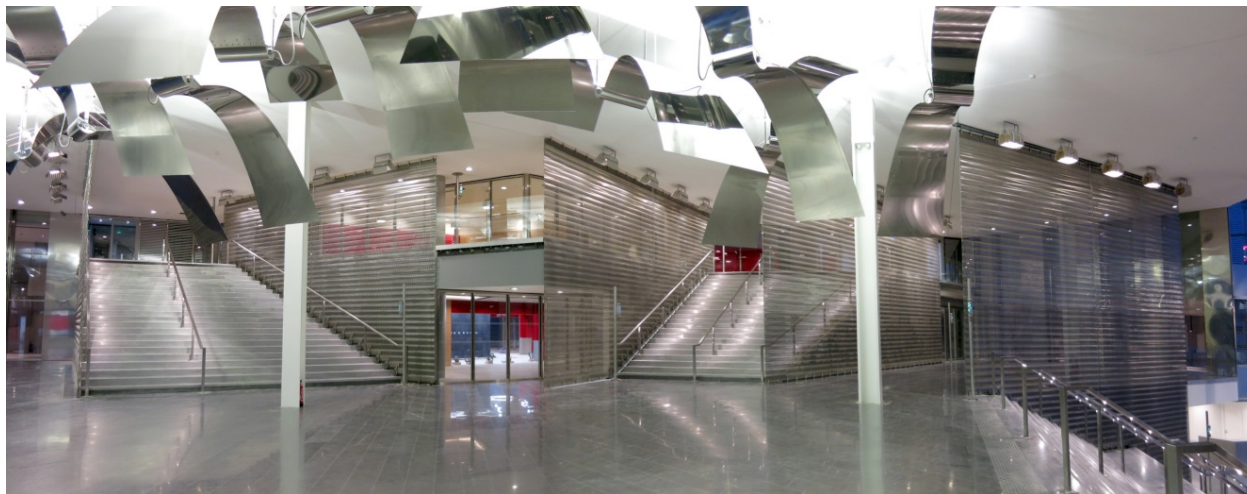

Picture 1: A central element of Dominique Perrault's concept for refurbishing, restructuring and expanding the Tours du Pont de Sèvres was the agora spanning some 5,000 square meters.

Picture 2: Gaëlle Lauriot-Prévoist from Perrault's firm designed the foyer as a meeting point and junction for residents and employees from a total of ten towers.

Picture 3: To structure the 1,500-square meter hall, ceiling-high room dividers made of Escale stainless steel mesh from GKD – GEBR. KUFFERATH AG were chosen. Targeted lighting of the metallic structure creates a variety of reflections, which underline the bright, inviting character of the representative lobby.

Picture 4: Unobtrusively shimmering mesh panels from GKD flank the broad stairwells, which lead to the two other levels of the foyer.

Picture 5 + 6: Depending on the viewing angle and the angle from which the light approaches, the puristic panels can be both transparent and opaque.
